EDUCATION

London School of Economics Sep 2026 – Jun 2027
MSc Econometrics and Mathematical Economics (incoming)

University of California, San Diego Sep 2024 – Jun 2026
B.S. Joint Mathematics–Economics
Mathematics Honors Program

RESEARCH INTERESTS

time series econometrics, nonparametric methods, macroeconomics

WORKING PAPERS

Nonparametric Spectral Tests for Stationarity in Nonlinear Time Series 2026
Honors thesis, advised by Danna Zhang.
A nonparametric test for stationarity based on the spectral density, accommodating nonlinear, non-Gaussian data-generating processes and retaining power against smoothly time-varying alternatives.

RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Research Assistant, The Economic Research Lab, UC San Diego Mar – Jun 2025
Supervisor: Maddison Erbabian (PhD candidate, Economics) — Event study on educational spillovers from universities in Sub-Saharan Africa.
Built Python pipeline for automated geo-coordinate scraping via the Google Maps API. Constructed location database with crosswalks to IPUMS household microdata. Verified and modified replication packages; ported R GIS objects into Python.

TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Academic Tutor, College of San Mateo 2022 – 2024
Tutored introductory microeconomics and statistics.

HONORS AND AWARDS

Provost Honors, UC San Diego 2024 – 2026
Paper accepted, Stanford Undergraduate Honors Symposium 2023
College of San Mateo Honors Program.

COURSEWORK

Mathematics: Real Analysis (MATH 140A/B), Probability and Stochastic Processes (MATH 180A/B/C),
Mathematical Statistics (MATH 181A/B), Linear Algebra (MATH 102)
Independent study with Prof. Zhang in time series (content of MATH 181E).

Economics: Intermediate Microeconomics (ECON 100A/B/C), Macroeconomics A (ECON 110A, perfect score), Honors Macroeconomics B (ECON 110BH, top student, Prof. Hamilton), Econometrics (ECON 120C), Decisions Under Uncertainty (ECON 171).

SKILLS AND LANGUAGES

Programming: R, Python, Stata (basic), Git, $\LaTeX$
Languages: English, Russian
